About Constructor

Constructor has been for many years the leading company of Scandinavia for storage and archive businesses. The company is a part of the Constructor Group. We have reached our position as market leader thanks to a conscious strategy where, design and manufacturing are done in house by our own team of R&D engineers and at our own factories. This gives us full control of the complete chain from idea to an up-running installation in full working order at our customers.

Constructor has its origin at Electrolux and has over time expanded due to heavy product development, smart storage solutions created by our logistic experts, partner ship and merger with successful colleagues (Høvik, Kasten, Krammer & Zeuten, ETH, MTH) acting under the mutual brand name Constructor.

Constructor is today a full scale supplier of storage and logistic solutions for the industry and trade but also market leader in stationary and mobile archive storage solutions including well known brands like Compactus®.

The Scandinavian head office is located in Gothenburg including also central warehouse and R&D department. The Constructor Group is since 2007 owned by the investment company Altor Fund II and has a turn over of 330 million Euros and 1200 employees. Constructor Group is well represented in all Europe with own factories and sales companies acting under the brand names Constructor, Dexion, Bruynzeel, Kasten and PSS.
